DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the

- a) A circuit unit including a second connector adapted to be mounted on the box body, per claim 1, must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as “amended.” If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either “Replacement Sheet” or “New Sheet” pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

2. The drawings are objected to because

- a) Figures 10-13 should be designated by a legend such as --Prior Art-- because only that which is old is illustrated. See MPEP § 608.02(g). Corrected drawings in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The replacement sheet(s) should be labeled "Replacement Sheet" in the page header (as per 37 CFR 1.84(c)) so as not to obstruct any portion of the drawing figures. If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Objections

3. Claims 1-6 are objected to because of the following informalities:
- a) The claims are generally narrative and indefinite, failing to conform with current U.S. practice. They appear to be a literal translation into English from a foreign document and are replete with grammatical and idiomatic errors.
 - b) In claim 1, line 5, phrase "provided to the box body" is not appropriate and not needed.
 - c) In claim 2, line 5, change "receiving" to -- received --.
 - d) In claim 3, the guide rib is not formed on the wall portion of the box body.
If it is a wall portion of item 27, than it lacks antecedent base.

Note: These are few examples only. Applicant is required to check all the claims and correct them accordingly.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

5. Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Higashida et al (6,537,105).

Art Unit: 2839

Higashida et al discloses, for claim 1, a box body; a provisionally-attaching portion (12) for provisionally attaching a first connector (22) connected to a wire harness to the box body provided to the box body (see figure 3A); and a circuit unit (21) including a second connector (21c) adapted to be mounted on the box body, wherein when the circuit unit (21) is mounted to the box body, the first connector (22) is detached from the provisionally-attaching portion (12) and is connected to the second connector (21c) (see figure 3B, see col. 7, lines 43-51), for claim 2, the provisionally-attaching portion is formed on a wall portion of the box body forming a receiving space for receiving the circuit unit, and when the circuit unit is received in the receiving space, the provisionally-attaching portion is disposed between the wall portion and the circuit unit (see figure 1), for claim 3, the provisionally-attaching portion including a guide rib which is formed on the wall portion and extends in a direction in which the first connector (22) is inserted (see figure 3A), and the first connector (22) includes a guide groove for sliding engagement with the guide rib (see marked figure 3B, attached), for claim 4, the provisionally-attaching portion includes a pair of side ribs provided at opposite sides of the guide rib, respectively, and the first connector includes a pair of side guides for engagement respectively with the pair of side ribs (see marked figure 3B, attached).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claims 5 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Higashida et al.

Higashida et al discloses all the limitations of claims 1-3, as shown above, Higashida et al also discloses the provisionally-attaching portion includes retaining projections formed respectively on a pair of overhang portions formed respectively on opposite sides of the guide rib, and the first connector includes retaining steps for being retained respectively by the retaining projections formed respectively on flange walls of the guide groove,

However, Higashida et al does not disclose:

- a) For claim 5, the retaining projections having a generally semi-circular cross-section. It would have been an obvious matter of design choice to for the retaining projections to be generally semi-circular cross-section, since such a modification would have involved a mere change in the size or shape of a component. A change in size or shape is generally recognized as being within the level of ordinary skill in the art. In re Rose, 105 USPQ 237 (CCPA 1955).
- b) Higashida et al discloses all the structural limitations of claim 6 as shown above, however, Higashida et al does not describe the method as claimed. The claimed method language is counter part of the apparatus claimed. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to develop a particular method for the disclosed apparatus of the cited references.
